

Listening Guide Answers for

The Searching Generation:
The Spiritual Life of Twenty-Somethings

For a free catalog of our videos contact:

Gateway Films/Vision Video

P.O. Box 540, Worcester, PA 19490

Phone: 1-800-523-0226 • Fax: 610-584-6643

E-Mail: info@visionvideo.com • Web: www.visionvideo.com

Listening Guide Answers for Viewing
The Searching Generation: The Spiritual Life of Twenty-Somethings

American woman: “Spirituality should play a larger role, but it doesn’t.”

Erwin McManus: “Twenty year olds don’t want to play games.”

David Kinnamon: “They use technology differently. It changes the pace of communicating.”

Lorene Wales: “Their communication is instant and visual.”

Kinnamon: “8 out of 10 twenty-somethings tell us spirituality is important in their lives. 75 percent pray in a typical week.”

Delilah, NYC: “I believe there’s a god, but I don’t follow Him.”

Gary Morgan, Nashville: “We’ve hindered twenty-somethings from asking a lot of questions and from having a lot of doubts.”

Gary Detweiler: “We have been judgmental. We have been people who defined ourselves by what we are against rather than what we are for.”

Research finding: Gen-Xers and Millennials are the least likely group to attend church.

James Langteaux: “We built relationships with people who hated Christians but had no idea that the people they were loving were believers in Jesus.”

Kinnamon: Seven factors influencing people’s lives: movies, TV, Internet, books, family, music and law.

Detweiler: “We have to figure out how to reclaim an image-driven faith.”

McManus: “What is ministry but unleashing creativity through the power of the Holy Spirit,”

Kinnamon: “There are some really cool opportunities for ministering with young people because of the way they are making their spiritual decisions.”

Your personal reflection: “How did this film make you feel about your church’s potential for reaching young people more effectively? _____
